A Milan father and son are among guests for Saturday's program called "America's Health Care Advocate".

Cary Hall conducts the interview with Matt and Ryan Kuehn and with representatives of the Lifelight Eagle medical helicopter service which has a base at the airport in Trenton.

The one-hour interview will be presented twice. Here it tomorrow from 11:05 to 12 noon on KTTN at 92.3. It also will be broadcast in its regular time slot on KGOZ at 101.7 from 12:05 to 1 o'clock Saturday.

The pre-recorded interview focuses on Ryan's all terrain vehicle injury accident April 30th of LAST year and his recovery. His father, Matt Kuehn, is a paramedic with Sullivan County Ambulance service who was on duty and responded to the scene. Ryan Kuehn was flown by Life Flight Eagle to Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City. He's recovered and played football this fall at Milan.

Matt and Ryan Kuehn live at Milan.
