The Livingston County Sheriff recently began an investigation of a man that reportedly had been living in Jackson County, Missouri on felony probation then, somehow, found his way to Chillicothe.

William D. Coleman allegedly established a residence in the 900 block of Webster Street on or about December 12 or-13, 2013 remaining there for multiple days without notifying the Livingston County Sheriff he was residing in Livingston County, Missouri.

The investigation alleges Mr. Coleman moved from the 900 block of Webster to a location in the 1000 block of Second Street again without notifying the Livingston County Sheriff he moved from one address or established a new address in Livingston County as required by Missouri Law.

A Livingston County Search Warrant was executed in the 1,000 block of Second Street, Chillicothe for certain evidence related to this investigation. Mr. Coleman was subsequently taken into custody in the 900 block of Webster Street on a Livingston County arrest warrant for the alleged class D felony of Failing to Register as a Sex Offender. Mr. Coleman appeared before Associate Judge James Valbracht and will be transferred to the Daviess Dekalb County Regional Jail. Â

The Missouri Department of Probation and Parole and the Jackson County Sheriff assisted with information on this investigation.
