At a meeting of Jamesport Tri County Board of Education, a retirement was accepted from speech provider Nancy Edwards.

A resignation was accepted from music teacher Connie Martin. The board voted to renew contracts for probationary and all tenured teacher contracts for next year. The Tri county board decided to increase the pay of administrative assistants for the remainder of the current school year by 12 hundred 50 dollars due to their increased duties.

The superintendent reported the board voted to place a health insurance cap of 400 dollars for plans with an aggregate rate and a 69 percent contribution for plans with age-based premiums not to exceed a total expenditure of 400 dollars, times, all full-time employees. The district official noted the measure provides Jamesport Tri County with a procedure for handling the different ways future health insurance plans may be billed to employees while establishing a fixed budgetary amount for contributions.

Among other action, the board voted to increase pay by ten dollars for basketball game officials. While budgetary matters and the educational broadband signal were discussed, no action was taken.
