The Stacy Center pool remains closed due to the water conservation going on within the city of Princeton. The gym and fitness center remain open, but with limited hours of operation. The center's hours are now Monday through Friday afternoons from 3:30 to 6:30, hours expected to stay in place until the Stacy Center is able to re-open the swimming pool. Stacy Center officials do not yet have a time frame on how long that process may take.

With the center's pool being shut down, the Stacy Center's Board of Directors have extended all memberships in the amount of time it takes for the pool to be shut down.

For example, if it is shut down two months, the membership will be extended two months. The board of the Stacy Center apologizes for any inconvenience the water restrictions have caused its members.
