

Stacy Center in Princeton is ready to re-open indoor pool

News

Posted by : John

Posted on : 2012/9/24 9:20:00

The Stacy Multipurpose Center's Indoor pool at Princeton is scheduled to re-open to the public beginning Wednesday September 26th at 5:00 am. This is a corrected date from information provided to KTTN. Plans also have been announced for a FREE swim this Saturday night.

Morning hours will be 5:00 am to 9:30 am, Adult swimming from 3:30 pm to 5:00 pm, and evening hours (all ages open swimming) will be 5:00 pm to 6:30 pm. During the adult swim time, there will not be any children allowed in the pool, as the adult session is closed to all other individuals except for adults. This is due to adults exercising, and doing water therapy.

To show what board members are calling their "appreciation to all customers, members, and visitors", the Stacy Center Board of Directors will hold an Open Swim free of charge Saturday evening, September 29th.

The Stacy Center will be open from 5 o'clock until 9 o'clock for anyone who would like to swim, use the Brian Donelson Fitness Room, or see what updates have been done in the center, as well as enjoy a night with the family. Board members will be present Saturday evening to answer any questions.