A Breckenridge man was hurt on Saturday afternoon when the farm tractor he was driving went off a private drive and hit a tree near Breckenridge. The Highway Patrol said 56-year old Wayne Black fell from the tractor. He was taken to Cameron Regional Medical Center, with injuries described as MODERATE.

The investigating officer said the tractor was northbound on Litton Road, traveling down a hill, when Black attempted to turn into a private drive. The tractor, in that process, went off the driveway, and hit a tree.

Damage to the tractor was described as minor. Black was not using a safety device.
