The Highway Patrol reports that two Cameron boys were in a car that apparently experienced equipment failure and went off Clinton County Route T on Thursday afternoon. A passenger, 12 year old Wyatt Stone, received what were described as minor injuries and was taken to Cameron Regional Medical Center.

The driver of the car was 16 year old Remington Stone of Cameron. After the westbound car left Route T, Stone over-corrected, with the car striking a ditch on the south side of the road. It then spun, and came to rest in the ditch. The car was demolished. Both boys were using seat belts.
