SULLIVAN COUNTY, MO. -- A Sullivan County man already facing a sex related felony charge, now faces additional charges.

Wesley Tuley, 43, of Newtown, Missouri, is already charged with sexual misconduct involving a child, now will face charges of armed criminal action, first degree endangering the welfare of a child and unlawful use of a weapon.

According to court papers, Tuley is allegedly seen on video pointing a gun at the child's foot and threatening to blow it off.

Tuley remains in custody under $25,000 cash only bond. He is scheduled to be arraigned on the new charges on May 15.
