

Princeton Chamber Sets July 4th Plans

News

Posted by : Randy

Posted on : 2013/5/28 8:52:05

Princeton's chamber of commerce has a mini tractor cruise planned for their July 4th celebration. The tractors will be displayed at the school following the cruise. This fall's Calamity Jane days theme will be honoring military past and present, and they are attempting to determine the oldest and youngest military person.

According to Northwestmo.info.com

The Princeton Chamber will also be asking residents and businesses to fly American flags for Princeton's Calamity Jane days to honor the military. Kid power will be putting on a kid's pedal tractor pull that will include trophies. The tractor pull will be held at 3pm on the Saturday of Calamity Jane days.

The Chamber will also ask those with floats, tractors, cars, and trucks not to throw candy during the parade for the safety of children. The chamber also discussed the potential for an ATV time trial and a memorial wall set up for the event.