Three area residents were among 39 participants in a Cadet patrol academy at Jefferson City.

Charlie Hoffman of Trenton, Matthew Huskey of Pattonsburg, and Kale Thieme of Meadville took part in the program. It was comprised of a typical week of Highway patrol recruit training.

The program, sponsored by the American legion, is for youths ages 16 through 18 who have a grade average of 3.0 or higher, be of good moral character, well groomed, and recommend by high school officials. Home schooled students meeting the 3.0 average requirement also are eligible.

The participants also are to have an interest in pursuing a career in the criminal justice system. Charlie Hoffman of Trenton received a physical fitness award during the academy.
