This meeting is scheduled for the Sugg Room of the Ketcham community center. Information from previous board meetings indicates discussion involves future plans for the row of buildings immediately south of the college parking lot on Main near Crowder as well as anticipated renovations at the multi-story Geyer building.

Personnel will be among the topics for tomorrow (Tuesday) evenings' regular meeting of North Central Missouri College Trustees. The 5:30 meeting will be in the presidents office at the Frey administrative center on the campus in Trenton.

The agenda includes full-time employments, a transfer, and part-time clinical instructors. Other items include setting the date and time for the annual tax levy hearing for the college district; purchase of instructional technology equipment; the revised organizational chart; the annual student debt report, and the college year in review. Besides reports, the agenda also includes a closed executive session for the board of trustees regarding personnel, real estate, and legal purposes.
