One person was killed and two others injured early Sunday in Chariton county when a sport utility vehicle overturned east of Salisbury, throwing all three from the SUV.

Fatally injured was 26-year old Casey Steinbeck of Salisbury.

The patrol reported 27-year old Scott Callaghan of Salisbury had serious injuries and 20-year old Kyle Fischer from New Cambria had moderate injuries. Both were flown by medical helicopter to University Hospital at Columbia

It was not immediately determined who was driving.

The accident occurred early Sunday four miles east of Salisbury on Route PP. The investigating officer said the eastbound SUV went off the road, hit a culvert, and overturned, demolishing the vehicle.

The accident remains under investigation.
